Psychological Self-Help Bibliography
by Clay Tucker-Ladd
(c2004)

Since the writing of this book has continued from the mid-sixties to now (2005), the references span 50 years or so. In fact, the heyday of self-help in the 1970s followed and was partly inspired by the revolutionary 1960s.

Therefore, don’t discount some of the older references cited here. The early self-help publications are the proud parents of our somewhat better science-based self-control techniques being developed today.
